

Where to Eat and Drink on the North Fork

By Cameron Curtis

Find out where to stay, where to eat and which wineries are tops for tasting in the North Fork of Long Island.

Welcome to the North Fork

While New Yorkers and other travelers often head to popular Hamptons destinations on the South Fork of Long Island, oenophiles and those in the know head north at the end of Highway 495 and are greeted with fields of vineyards, endless farmland and some pretty great wines. (Image: Bedell Cellars)

Where to Eat Dinner

From Tasmanian Red Crab Tacos to Satur Farm Kale Caesar salad, Noah's (136 Front Street, Greenport, NY 11944) has something for everyone, and it's a great place to congregate with friends and share a few small plates. Chef Noah Schwartz is a Long Island native, and his restaurant is known for featuring local ingredients and fresh seafood. The wine list is curated by the chef's wife, Sunita Schwartz, and features one of the largest selections of local wines in the area.